Principal excess profits tax changes introduced by the Esvenne Act of 1941

Enversal of the deduction for income and excess profits taxes - Prior to the enactment of the Envenue act of 1941, income taxes were deductible in computing excess profits net income. The Revenue act of 1941 eliminates this deduction and allows the deduction of excess profits tax for income tax purposes. The elimination of income tax as a deduction in computing excess profits net income applies to the base period years as well as to the taxable year.

Change in excess profits credit based on invested capital - The Revenue Act of 1941 changed the invested capital credit from a flat 5 percent to 5 percent on invested capital not in excess of $5,000,000 plus 7 percent on the amount in excess of $5,000,000.

Increase in rates - The Revenue Act of 1941 increases the rates in each adjusted excess profits net incess bracket by ten percentage points as follows:

Adjusted excase profits net income (In thousands of dollars)	From (percent)	To (percent)
Not over 20	25 30 35 40 45	35 40 45 50 55 60
